With Thanks

Posted by Curt Lucas

As we celebrate Thanksgiving tomorrow, we give special thanks for so many people who make our work possible. They reinforce our firm's commitment to providing healthcare executive search and talent advisory services based on our core values and a set of guiding principles. We offer heartfelt thanks to:

- Compassionate care teams serving patients in all settings – urban, community, military, senior living, rural
- Health-tech entrepreneurs launching new products and leveraging data
- Academic medical center faculty committed to teaching and equipping clinicians
- Skilled, committed researchers who are looking to discover a cure
- Investors, institutes and innovators advancing new, scalable ideas
- Association leaders building community among health care colleagues
- Professionals who address health disparities and work to eliminate implicit bias
- Next generation executives ready to conquer today's healthcare industry challenges
- Chief Learning Officers, Chief Wellness Officers, Chief Digital Experience Officers and all Chiefs who contribute to the sustainability of their organization
- Talented individuals drawn into the healthcare sector from corporate environments
- Thought leaders, pundits, analysts and journalists who cover our industry
- Clients and candidates, board search committees and their administrators
- Finally, our families and friends who support our professional pursuits and total wellbeing

From all of us at InveniasPartners, Happy Thanksgiving!
